Current Sleep Medicine Fellow

Vishal Deepak, MD, MBBS

Dr. Deepak was born and raised in a small town in Sindh, Pakistan. He received his medical degree from Jinnah Sindh Medical University (formerly Sindh Medical College) in Pakistan. He completed his internal medicine residency including chief year at Western Michigan University School of Medicine. After residency, he completed his fellowship in Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine at West Virginia University where he was appointed as Research Chief Fellow during the last year of fellowship.

Dr. Deepak has a strong interest in medical education and research. During his internal medicine residency, he was also appointed as clinical instructor for medical school. He was actively involved in research during his fellowship and completed research projects in the topics of smoking induced lung diseases, interstitial lung diseases, interstitial lung abnormalities, COVID-19, etc. He was awarded Outstanding fellow in 2023 for the Division of Pulmonary, Critical Care and Sleep Medicine at West Virginia University.

Outside of work he enjoys playing badminton and cricket. He has participated in multiple regional and national cricket leagues. His other hobbies include reading, cooking and travelling.

Past Fellows

2023

Nupur Dandawate, MD, MBBS
Current Insitution: Salem Hospital - Mass General Brigham,
Salem, Massachusetts

2022

Alok Bhatt, MD
Current Institution: WVU Medicine Uniontown Hospital,
Uniontown, Pennsylvania

2021

Sunil Nair, MD
Current Institution: Abington Pulmonary and Critical Care
Associates, Abington, Pennsylvania

2020

Jessica Riggs, MD
Current Institution: Virginia Heart, Leesburg, Virginia

2019

Kathleen Doo, MD
Current Institution: Kaiser Permanente - East Bay
Pulmonary, Oakland, California

2018
Yefim Cavalier, DO
Current Institution: Private Practice, Boca Raton Florida